REMARKS—General

Because lack of skill in the patent process, the applicant was not fully maximizing the protection for the invention disclosed. The examiner was helpful and understanding toward the applicant's naiveté. The examiner was an inspiration which motivated the applicant to further her research in the patent process.

By the above amendment, the applicant has amended the title to emphasize the novelty of the invention. She has amended and replaced the original drawings with the drawings as indicated to describe further details of the invention. Also, the applicant has rewritten all claims and specifications to define the invention more particularly and distinctly so as to overcome the technical rejections (35 USC §112) and define the invention patentable over the prior art (35 USC §103).
